Performance Ceilings & Walls For The Interior Design Industry

Project of the Month

The University of South Carolina Alumni Center

Columbia, South Carolina

The University of South Carolina was constructing a new $26.4 million alumni center intended to be a bridge between campus life and the neighboring communities. The architect, LS3P, had a vision to recreate the USC Gamecock mascot's tail feathers as a feature ceiling above the grand staircase. WARCO Construction, a CLIPSO® Certified Installer selected to execute this vision, called CLIPSO Ceiling & Wall for a design assist.

Using CLIPSO 495D acoustic fabric and CLIPSO P-CC profiles, they created custom frames at various finished heights. LED uplighting was integrated into the perimeter trim and was used to highlight the various shapes of the CLIPSO feature ceiling. This project took five crew members four weeks to complete.

The center opened in August of 2015 and will serve its students, alumni and surrounding communities by hosting meetings, weddings and school events. Feedback from the design team, students and alumni has been extremely favorable and there are discussions of continuing this concept in other parts of the campus.
